DID YOU KNOW THAT CHILDREN WITH DOWN'S SYNDROME BENEFIT FROM A SPECIFIC WAY OF TEACHING?

Evidence has shown that children with Down's syndrome often share a similar learning profile that differs from typically developing children. Our sessions use this knowledge to deliver a specifically designed curriculum to give your child the best start for their learning.

Reading can be a strength for children with Down syndrome, and it is beneficial to start in their pre-school years. Our groups provide structured activities that introduce and improve skills in areas including early reading, numeracy, speech and language, auditory and memory, cognitive, social, and fine motor skill development. Delivering services to suit the needs of the whole family. Every child is different and our team can help build the right approach for your child.

GETTING THE RIGHT THERAPY AND ADVICE EARLY IS VITAL!

The right support in the early years can make such a huge difference!

We provide access to specialists to ensure you get the right advice and support for your whole family. We will also help you connect with your schools and local professionals to ensure everyone working with your child knows how to support them to reach their potential.

Parents are encouraged to continue activities with their children at home to increase effectiveness. The sessions not only benefits the children who take part, but also parents. Learning new skills, effective methods and resources which will support their child's development and education.
